

OBSERVING B. & O. DAY HERE

What B. And O. Means To New Castle Shown By Facts Presented

The President

DANIEL WILLARD

While he could not be here in person today for the Baltimore and Ohio Day events, Daniel Willard, president of the system is here in spirit. In a personal letter to I. L. Harper, he expressed his congratulations to the men in charge here and expressed the hope that the day would be the success it merited.

One of the giants in railroad management today, Daniel Willard is known over the entire world as a railroad executive of outstanding ability. On several occasions he has been in New Castle on inspection trips and the B. and O. men here and the entire city regret he cannot be here to see for himself the successful culmination of the Co-Operative Traffic Group's plans.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New observes that quite a few downtown buildings are being repaired.

Pa New notes that weeds and high grass are covering many vacant lots, and are growing out along the sidewalk in many places. Some people who live at adjoining properties keep the grass cut on some of these properties, while most of the others leave it up to the owners or the city, and in most cases, it is the city which does the work, if it is done.

Among the growing vegetables and plants to be seen this morning, in one of the "sunk gardens", along West Washington street, are three rows of strawberry plants, in full bloom. This piece of good ground, seems to have an early start, because of its protection from the north, and its cold.

Outside and around a number of homes on the west side, the "bridal wreath" bushes, are blooming, and make a beautiful sight.

WASHINGTON, May 23—President Roosevelt didn't say yes and he didn't say no about a third term, but friends and foes alike knew today that he intended to be a very potent factor in the 1940 campaign.

All this was contained in his carefully prepared address to the American Retail Federation last night, in which he unmistakably pledged himself to fight for a continuation of what he termed "the conservative New Deal" as against the "radical gamblers" of 1929.

No Commitment
Without committing himself on the all-important question of whether he will again be a candidate, Mr. Roosevelt most definitely set the stage for next year's presidential struggle.

Within a month—unless congress decides to adjourn quickly—the president will be on his way across country once more. With Asheville, N. C., as his first stop and San Francisco as his last on the (Continued On Page Two)

British Cabinet Will Consider Russian Pact

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 23—A detailed draft of a powerful Anglo-French-Russian military alliance opposing further Nazi-Fascist expansion at the expense of small nations will be presented to the British cabinet tomorrow at its regular meeting by Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, it was understood today.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his ministers were scheduled to hold a special meeting today so that internal business can be cleared up, leaving tomorrow's session free for consideration of the pact with Russia.

Lord Halifax was due to return to the League of Nations council session in Geneva in time for tomorrow's meeting. The plan he will lay before the cabinet, it was said, has the full approval of Moscow.

Circulation Of Obscene Literature In America Is Assailed By Bishop

Three hundred women and guest clergymen, at a banquet in The Castleton last night, heard the Most Rev. John Mark Gannon, D.D., Bishop of Erie and state chaplain of the Catholic Daughters of America, in an address highlighting the four-day state convention which is in progress here.

Bishop Gannon, in a bombardment of words against the circulation of obscene literature in America, told the convention that a survey made by a committee representing the Roman Catholic hierarchy, that there are 450 objectionable publications printed in the United States, and that 300 of these were born during the depression.

Most Come From New York
"Of the 450 erotic periodicals published and distributed in the United States, 300 were launched during the depression years by men seeking profit," Bishop Gannon said, adding that 400 emanate from the state of New York. He said that the estimated circulation is 15,000,000 monthly, "which means they probably reach in a light or serious manner 60,000,000 people."

The bishop said that 100 of these magazines published in the United States are banned from Canada, Australia and other countries, and that this constitutes the great shame of America before the eyes of the nations of the world.

The son of a grocer who became a priest in 1911, Archbishop Spellman takes over the administration of a see embracing 1,000,000 Roman Catholics.

British-Russian Pact Will Probably Not Be True Military Alliance

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

GENEVA, May 23—Profound mutual mistrust is the background of the negotiations between the Soviet Russians and the British, and there is little likelihood that any arrangement reached will be of the character of a true military alliance. This is the opinion today in authoritative French military circles, who stress the belief that the British will never consent to exchange of their military secrets with Russia, and that lacking this, the expected agreement, whatever it is called, will neither satisfy the Russians nor convince Hitler that it means business.

French See Distrust
The French are the more certain of this forecast because they themselves have never yet exchanged their fundamental military plans with the red army staff. The Franco-Soviet pact of mutual assistance which gave Hitler the excuse to denounce Lacarno and reoccupy the Rhineland, was concluded May 2, 1935. During the four years following, the Soviet government constantly but vainly pressed the French to exchange staff talks.

ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, Enroute Winnipeg, May 23—King George and Queen Elizabeth could sit back in the luxurious palace on rails today and really relax.

For the first time since the royal couple arrived at Quebec, almost a week ago there wasn't a single state banquet, a legislative reception or even a luncheon on the program.

The Queen likes to sew or read as she rides along and the King has a heavy official mail everyday but frequently back platform appearances coupled with day and two day programs have to some extent hampered the Queen in her pleasures and the King in his duties.

Busy Day In Toronto
Certainly they needed a rest after a busy eight hours and a half in Toronto with the introduction of the Dionne quintts and the annual running of the King's plate at Woodbine park.

The quintts won their majesties and Archduchess von the King's plate and everybody who could get into Toronto got in and all in all it was the sort of a day that will go down in the books of Toronto by which to compare future big days.

From mid-morning when the royal train rolled into North Toronto station until early evening when it rolled west, thousands and thousands of police lined the sidewalks over parade routes miles long.

The 45,000-crowding Woodbine park and the additional thousands crowding the city would willingly have swapped the best locations for a peep at the meeting between the five little queens of hearts and the rulers of the British empire who, technically, are their guardians but less than a handful witnessed it and they either were members of the royal party or of the Dionne household.

Alleged Brains Of Poison Ring May Plead Guilty

PHILADELPHIA, May 23—Morris Bolber, erstwhile faith healer and reputed master-mind of the unbelievable Philadelphia arsenic murder ring, today waived a hearing when arraigned in police court on a charge of being an accessory in the poisoning of Romaine Manduk.

At the same time Bolber's attorney hinted that the Brooklyn delicatessen store proprietor may plead guilty to an indictment returned against him in the death of Rafael Caruso, who was strangled and drowned in the Schuylkill river in Philadelphia.

Caruso and Manduk, a baker, whose widow, Agnes, also is under arrest in her husband's slaying, were two of the 34 known victims of the bizarre murder-for-insurance conspiracy.

With the weather well nigh perfect, and every detail of the day's program clicking with the precision of the Capital Limited, "Baltimore and Ohio Day" is a success today. Every executive of the system who was scheduled to be here is in the city, the shops at New Castle Junction are crowded with interested citizens and the dinner-dance tonight in the Cathedral will see a full house.

It is a day when the employees of the Baltimore and Ohio, from the humblest track walker to the top flight executives, are proudly showing the people of this city what the railway system means to New Castle and Lawrence county. Like some large family they are holding open house for their neighbors and at noon today about 1200 of the neighbors had crowded the shops at the junction and indications were that the afternoon would see many times that number.

Executives Here
Headed by Vice President C. W. Galloway, a large group of executives of the line arrived in New Castle before noon. At noon they were taken to the Field club where a luncheon is being held with a number of local industrialists. This afternoon a golf tournament is under way.

For the open house at the junction the shops were in apple pie order. Employees acted as guides and showed the guests the round house, the turn table, the wealth of heavy equipment used to service the locomotives and cars, and judging from the comments of the visitors, everybody had a perfectly swell time.

The day was organized some time ago with I. L. Harper, general foreman of the shops in charge as general chairman. Assisting him is a host of employees and their wives (Continued On Page Five)

Report 62 Men Are Trapped In U. S. Submarine

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 23.—Sixty-two men were trapped this afternoon in the United States submarine Squalus off Isle of Shoals in 243 feet of water.

The men were in communication with members of the crew of the United States Submarine Sculpin by means of a telephone to a buoy.

The trapped men included six naval officers, 51 members of the crew of the submarine, four Portsmouth Navy yard workers, and one civilian.

The Squalus left the navy yard this morning on a regular test in routine operations. She reached a point off the Isle of Shoals, which is approximately 12 miles east of the mainland, when she submerged. This was at 8:30 a. m. (EDT).

This afternoon, when the submarine failed to return to her base and was unreported, the submarine Sculpin was sent out to investigate.

The officers of the Sculpin found the buoy with telephone wire and immediately communicated with the sunken craft.

According to word sent shoreward a valve near the crew room had failed to work, causing the submarine to be unable to rise.

From the man who does the boasting to the man who walks the track, from Baltimore to Cincy and to Washington and back, you'll find them speaking proudly of the railroad that they run, and they really seem to mean it, seem to get a lot of fun out of working for the railroad, there's a fine 'esprit de corps' in the shops and in the office and you see it more and more as you come in contact with them, they're a splendid bunch to know, and today we greet the workers who make up the B. & O. This is their day, theirs and ours, which gives me a chance to say, here's good luck, you B. & O. gang, weather's eighty three today.

Huge Damage Suit Against C. I. O.

Action Filed By Republic Steel

Suit At Cleveland Is Out-growth Of "Little Steel" Strike Of 1937

JOHN L. LEWIS AND OTHERS ARE NAMED

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., May 23.—Declaring it was subjected to a deliberately planned reign of terror in the "Little Steel" strike of 1937, the Republic Steel corporation, one of the nation's largest independent producers, today filed suit for triple damages of $7,500,000 against the Congress of Industrial Organizations and its principal affiliates and officers headed by John L. Lewis.

The suit, filed in federal court under provisions of the Sherman and Clayton acts alleged that strike violence in the steel centers of Ohio, in South Chicago, Ill., Buffalo, N. Y., Beaver Falls, Pa., Cumberland, Md., and elsewhere grew out of a C. I. O. conspiracy to force Republic Steel to sign a collective bargaining contract.

Triple Damages
The damages sought were thrice the corporation claimed was lost through the forced closing of its plants, abnormal costs entailed in operating them under strike siege, expenditures for protection and the attendant decline in business and inability to contract for future deliveries. Under the Clayton act, triple damages can be claimed.

In addition to Lewis, the following C. I. O. or S. W. O. C. officials were named in the bill of complaint: Philip Murray, James Carey, S. H. Dairymple, David J. McDonald, Clinton S. Golden, Van A. Bittner, Harold J. Rutenberg, John Owen, Vincent Sweeney, Bozo Damich, William F. Donovan, Frank Hardesty, John L. Mayo, Robert Burke, Hugh P. Carrella, Charles Doyle, Thomas Favorito, Joseph F. BRITISH RUSSIAN PACT PROBABLY NOT TO BE A MILITARY ALLIANCE edge of them by the enemy could decide the issue of the war in its opening days or weeks. For example, all opposite dispositions would depend upon whether France intended to attack Germany directly at some point in the Siedgried line, or intended to attack through northern Italy, or intended not to attack at all but to await the German attack.

This is obviously also the sort of knowledge that an ally has to have if military partners are to coordinate their efforts at the outbreak of war. But the red army, it is believed, still lacks this essential information from the French.

The French general staff has never rid itself of the suspicion that parts of the red army still are pro-German, still remain in their hearts loyal to the traditional cooperation of Reichswehr and red army which was active from the occupation of the Ruhr in 1922 to the accession of Hitler to power in 1933. They can point to the trials of Tuchachevsky and the red generals which, however obscure their meaning, apparently did indicate that the defendants had favored a Russian-German military alliance.

District Dairymen Meet At Zelienople

Interesting Session Held For Members Of District Unit A Last Evening

Members of District Unit A of the Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association met in the municipal building in Zelienople last evening with a large attendance.

The legislative committee, consisting of S. S. Cleland, of Portersville; C. E. Reed, of Slippery Rock, and William R. Fox, of Enon Valley pointed out that the four-point legislative program advocated and supported by the D. C. S. A. and organized agriculture of Pennsylvania was essentially the program recommended some months ago by District Unit A. Two of these features are practically assured of passage, it is stated, with a possibility that the entire program may be passed before the legislature adjourns.

H. E. Steele, secretary of the D. C. S. A. spoke at some length concerning the problems to be considered relative to the future policy of the organization, at the meeting of the executive committee on May 26. He further stated that the Milk Control Commission had practically completed an audit of the dealer's spreads, which was requested by the organization at the hearing in January, and have scheduled another hearing for June 8 at Pittsburgh.

A. C. Marburger, of Evans City, a director, also spoke along the same line.

Mrs. Maude Demer of Homedale, state monitor, was chairman of the banquet program last night. Miss Margaret McHugh of Uniontown, vice state regent, presided.

Mrs. Frances Colao, grand regent of the New Castle host court, and general chairman of the convention, extended a welcome to the guests in which she stated that New Castle is enjoying the privilege of entertaining the state organization on the 20th anniversary of the local Court Theresa Irene.

Hon. Charles E. McGrath, mayor of New Castle, who had addressed delegates at an earlier session, added a few words of cordial greeting.

Welcomes Bishop

Rev. William F. Galvin, assistant pastor of St. Mary's church, and junior chaplain of the C. D. of A., spoke for the assemblage in welcoming His Excellency, the Bishop of Erie. "The homage we render," Galvin said, "is the homage that one with his burden deserves." Rev. Galvin also paid tribute to the Rev. F. P. O'Shea, who had come from Pittsburgh to celebrate the mass of yesterday morning, and who was among the honored guests last evening.

After the address of His Excellency, the Bishop, several solos were sung by Mrs. Marie E. Beck of Swissvale, and reports were submitted by the "six diocesan beacon lights" who "threw the rays of their efforts so readily." Miss Anna Shields, Erie diocese; Miss Ellen Prongerast, Philadelphia; Mrs. Mary Sue Wisler, Altoona; Miss Agnes Entz, Harrisburg; Miss Helen Baglier, Scranton, and Mrs. Anna Foley, Pittsburgh.

State Regent Speaks

Miss Frances Maher of Kane, during whose 22 years as state regent the organization has grown from 19 to 127 courts, said that perhaps the greatest contribution any organization can make is the development of leadership, and this has been a contribution of the C. D. of A. "We have developed an articulate laity," she said. The old type of woman has been discarded into the limbo of old ideas. "The woman of today is no shrinking violet, but alert and capable of offering competition in nearly every field of endeavor."

The toastmistress congratulated the brother organization, the Knights of Columbus, upon its vigorous program of Catholic action, and called upon Thomas Cunningham of the New Castle K. of C. for remarks.

Bulwark Against Evil

Mr. Cunningham said: "We are two Catholic organizations that stand by themselves. We are organizations that take all nationalities and bind them together for Catholic Action. . . . The Catholic Daughters of America are doing their part to uphold the morals of the home and will stand as a bulwark against these evil forces of which Bishop Gannon has spoken. We hope to make this country of ours a much better place in which to live."

Rev. Joseph A. Doerr, pastor of St. Joseph's church, and chaplain of the senior court of C. D. of A. in New Castle, was listed on the program for an address but when his turn came he said that he was just a substitute chaplain, filling the unexpired term of Rev. A. P. Scholz, who was transferred from New Castle to the Pine Creek pastorate, and praising the fine work Father Scholz had done as chaplain, he called upon the former New Castle priest to make the address in his place. Father Scholz gave a brief and moving talk on charity, the love of God and the love of one's neighbor.

Certificates of Merit

Miss Alice Jolly of Carnegie, state treasurer, presented certificates of merit to three faithful members: Miss Mary Lambert of Philadelphia, state secretary, who has never missed a state convention since 1913; Miss Emma Beck of Philadelphia, who never missed a convention from 1913 to 1937 (last year she was seriously ill, but last night was back at

of officers will come up sometime this afternoon, but indications are that the present officers will be asked to serve again.

Favorable action was expected by the resolutions committee on at least three of the resolutions to be presented today to the delegates.

"Nudity At Fair"

One of the resolutions is a protest against "certain performances at the New York World's Fair, objectionable because of the extreme nudity of some of the entertainers."

Another is a commendation of the legislature of Pennsylvania for passing in the present session a bill whereby anyone publishing or distributing lewd pictures or obscene literature in the form of books, magazines and such like, is to be immediately arrested by local authorities, prosecuted by the district attorney and when guilty, fined and sentenced to a term in the state penitentiary.

The third is an expression of opposition to "any effort to involve our nation in a war between other nations, or a war on foreign soil. Tonight at 8 o'clock, the expropriation of ritual will take place with Vice State Regent Margaret McHugh of Uniontown presiding, and at 9:30 a conference, to be attended by Miss Katherine M. Rosney of New York, national secretary. There will be a quiz by members on the constitution.

PRESIDENT SETS STAGE FOR NEXT YEAR'S CAMPAIGN

western swing, he will have an opportunity to carry last night's philosophy more directly to the people. If he returns from Seattle, via the northern route, more voters will hear the same doctrine.

Re-Emphasizes Former Speeches

Mr. Roosevelt said nothing new at the Retailers' National Forum. He merely re-emphasized in best campaign style what he said in Madison Square Garden on the eve of the 1936 election, and in other speeches before and since.

The issues as he will make them will still be the same. The New Deal candidate—and it appeared anti-New Dealers in the Democratic party were going to either accept that candidate or a fight in next year's convention—will stand on the same platform Mr. Roosevelt has fashioned in the last six years.

This platform embodies adequate care for the one-third of the population "that is ill-clad, ill-housed, ill-fed." It calls for continued government spending to build up the purchasing power of the consumer. It frankly concedes a balanced budget next year is impossible. It puts the tax burden on the higher brackets as against the little fellows. It refutes the idea of a dole as against work relief. It forecasts in the near future a nation that can pay its own way.

Same Enemies

And the Roosevelt enemies are to be the same. He singled out the Republican National committee and the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. last night in particular as he denounced those who seek to retire his philosophy.

"You cannot expect this administration to alter the principles and objectives for which we have struggled in the last six years," he said, after collectively ridiculing the U. S. Chamber members, laughing at the G. O. P. "National Debt Week" currently being exploited by the opposition, and promising that if one sort of tax was taken off the very wealthy corporation or individual, a compensating levy would be substituted.

BRITISH CABINET TO CONSIDER PACT

with the murder of a German butcher, Gustav Gruebner, in the Danzig area and the consequent rising German-Polish tension over developments in the free city.

(Background note: Slaying of Gruebner has aroused fears of a possible conflict arising from Germany's demand for Danzig and a right of way across the Polish Corridor. The shooting of Gruebner by the chauffeur of a Polish official automobile was followed by new Polish press attacks against Germany.)

Negotiations are under way to persuade the Warsaw government to modify its attitude and thus clear the way for conclusion of the triple anti-aggression pact. Objections similar to Poland's are anticipated also from Rumania, which, like Poland, is guaranteed aid in the event of attack under terms of the proposed three-power accord.

FRIENDS OF NEW CASTLE

THIS is one day in New Castle when the Baltimore and Ohio railway has the spot light and deservedly so. Billed as "Baltimore and Ohio Day", the employees of the system located here are acting as hosts to all of us who wish to inspect their plant and whether or not every citizen gets down to the shops at New Castle Junction there is a warm feeling towards the B&O and the men who man it.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is one of the friends of New Castle. Here the company has established one of its important terminal units. Here are shopped and repaired the giants of the rails that haul freight and passengers between the east and the west.

Railroad men are good citizens. Their every day life is filled with responsibility for other people and this seems to make for good citizenship. At least it has always proven so in New Castle.

New Castle is gratified at the opportunity to join with the Baltimore and Ohio employees today in making this B&O Day a real success. Conscious of the important contribution the railway makes to the industrial life of this community, appreciative of the spirit of co-operation that has always marked the road and its men in their dealings with New Castle, all of us welcome today's opportunity of publicly recognizing the worth of the great railway system to this city and county.

COST OF CARELESSNESS

We usually think of safety campaigns in terms of the human lives and the human suffering involved.

That is natural enough, and right enough, for they are the first consideration.

But there is another side to it, and one not usually so easily grasped. That is the tremendous economic loss involved. More than 100,000 people are killed, and 375,000 crippled for life every year, and the annual economic loss is not less than three billion dollars, according to D. D. Fennell, president of the National Safety Council.

It is a heavy toll. Every step taken to cut down accidents not only saves lives and misery, but saves a loss that is a tremendous drain on the economic machinery of the country. Multiply by thousands the dislocations, interruptions, and costs that come to a single plant by an accident, and the picture clears.

Progress in safety is being made. Co-operation and watchfulness can increase that progress in 1939.

ONE FLYING ERA ENDS, ANOTHER BEGINS

Men have been flying across the Atlantic Ocean for twenty years, but not until this week was it considered practicable and opportune to begin the first regularly scheduled airplane flights. This inaugural scheduled flight, following a final inspection round-trip crossing some weeks ago, carried only mail, but after five such flights passengers will be taken on a time-table basis. Thus the Old World and the New World are linked definitely, once again, at a time when the British King and Queen are over here cementing intangible, invisible bonds.

This final, actual, belated start of scheduled trans-Atlantic trips fulfilling a twenty-year hope is in itself an assurance of practicality. Stunt flights across the Atlantic, some resulting in disasters or vanishings, are now passing into the category of rural barnstorming. Men who are guiding this newest and still amazing era of transportation through the clouds have been properly cautious and systematic; if it takes twenty years to prepare craft for dependable mastery of the air far from sight of land, they were willing to spend these twenty years this way.

Now they have begun regular trips. They are confident they have solved ocean-flying problems. The only major question remaining is whether the general public is ready to utilize this mail and passenger service so carefully prepared.

TONGUE IN CHEEK

Great pretense is made by congress about economy. All members are for economy in the abstract, but the majority commonly runs out when it comes to economy in fact. Killing of the Florida ship canal project by the senate, viewed as a test of economy sentiment, was the exception that proves the rule.

Last week the senate added to the agriculture bill, as passed by the house, $383,000,000 more than provided by budget estimates. It raised the appropriation to the highest ever voted for agriculture. It was rank log-rolling. Only a short time before the senate with a great show of unctuousness cut the deficiency work relief bill by $50,000,000 below what the president had asked for.

Now the house passes a bill by 237 to 95 to provide an additional clerk for each of the 435 members, at an additional cost of $652,000. Hilarious debate preceding the vote brought from Representative Warren, North Carolina, the rebuke to use "a minimum of demagoguery."

The excuse offered by some members who supported the measure is that their constituents would not want them to leave clerks out of their "own pockets." This is adding insult to injury. Go back to the first payroll of the present congress and what did it reveal? That one out of every 14 members of the house has a relative or a person with the same name as his drawing a congressional salary. Make your own guess about the number of relatives with different names from the members that also are on the payroll.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHO DEFENDS THE CHILD

WE OFTEN do not respect the rights of possession by our child. It is difficult for us to get away from treating him as if he were our property—as if all he has were ours.

Accordingly, we may use the crayon of the five-year-old, his scissors, toys, toilet articles and books as if they belonged to us. When, in like manner, he appropriates our things, we are annoyed; we may punish him. Our human frailties in such instances are so subtle that we hardly are aware of our offense against the child.

Embarrassing Incident

One day I was working in my garden when my younger boy, then aged five, came around and said: "That's all right, Daddy, you can use my rake; use it all summer if you like." It had never occurred to me that I should have had permission from the child to use his rake. Nevertheless, his remark reminded me that only two days earlier I had refused a request to use my shovel. I must confess that I was much embarrassed. I hastened to apologize to the little owner and to express honest appreciation for the blanket permit he had volunteered.

As Punishment

Many conscientious parents confiscate the toys of a child in order to punish him. The boy pulls his sister's hair and his story book is put away for several days. Daughter has said a naughty word and her crayons are denied her for a week. But the crayons are hers; the story book is his. So long as the owner does not injure his possession, nor himself nor any one else with it, the ownership should be respected. To take a child's toy away from him when he has done something wholly unrelated to it may prove to be a powerful punishment, but it will give the child an unhealthy attitude toward ownership of property. We parents have police protection of our rights and property, but who shall defend our children against us?

Lend It To Others

Not only are we likely to appropriate our children's property for personal use, but we may even take the liberty of lending it to others. Perhaps a little child comes to visit in our home and out we drag the toys of our older child who may be absent.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

The gray-green tides of Hitler's troops sweep eastward, and Austria, Sudebenland, and now Czechoslovakia, have gone to their graves.

The map of old Europe has been changed many times in the past by her generals and diplomats, but they were strangers to the technique that Adolf Hitler has developed with such astounding success—thus far.

Those tactics are worth studying. A well-respected expert like France's General Albert Duval even goes so far as to state they constitute a new military art. They consist in creating a war scare and menacing the enemy in time of peace. This is done in such a manner that it will be up to the enemy to take aggressive action, and thus run the risk of starting war operations.

It has worked to perfection—thus far. Germany makes a decisive military maneuver without actually embarking on open warfare. Her troops prepare to invade another country, as with Austria or Czechoslovakia, to free Germans from "oppression." Once "peace and order" are restored, and satisfaction accorded her, she promises to let the enemies of Germany don't like this, it's up to them to initiate actual warfare, thus neatly putting them in the position of aggressors.

Since the great enemy powers naturally want peace, Germany proceeds to hold and consolidate her position—until she creates another menacing war scare and repeats the tactics. That's "framing" developed to the level of a fine art.

Even the smartest military tacticians have met their military Waterloo. With three hits and no errors against him in his military conquests, Hitler should remember that Chance favors a strike-out against him in the near future. It may even be a strike-out that will retire the side.

Sun sets tonight 7:17. Sun rises tomorrow 4:36.

The legislature of Ohio has passed a law banning nudists in that state. 'Th' pruders!

THE REASON WHY

"I can't understand you, William," said the wife who had a reputation of being a very swaggy lady. "My friends are saying that you look positively shabby. Can't you do something about it? Dress up a bit, won't you?"

"I'd like to, but I can't afford it," said hubby.

"Why not, I'd like to know?"

"Because you are the best-dressed woman in town," he replied simply.

Correct This Sentence: "I speak scornfully of flowers and birds," said he, "and that shows I'm a he-man."

But who gains anything when he cripples business with taxes to give the worker a $3.50 dole instead of a $23 job?

It seems that education does not always put good sense into some heads. Good sense really seems to be born in most cases.

Answer—(1) The porter and waiters only should be tipped; never the conductor or the brakeman. (2) On a journey of a few hours' duration she should keep her hat on. If she is "living" on the train for a few days she should remove her hat on her arrival and not put it on again until she leaves, in which case she should, of course, not wear a hat to the dining car.

City Will Acquire Billy Glenn Pool

Solons Vote To Take Over
Park Pool At City Hall
Session Today

During city council meeting in the municipal building this morning solons voted to take over the Billy Glenn bathing pool and buildings in Cascade park at a price of $8,000, a quarter of which will be paid each year.

The motion was submitted by Councilman J. D. Alexander. Councilmen James L. Fink and J. M. Rice voted with Alexander for municipal operation by the Park commission of the pool.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath and Councilman William H. Dunlap were not present.

Some time ago Mr. Glenn made an offer to the Park commission, effective as foregoing, and the commission recommended the council take over the pool and buildings.

Glenn will return to the city about $500 in delinquent taxes.

The city also passed ordinances taking control of the Dogm and merry-go-round, the former at a price of $925 plus the cancellation of a $225 debt and the merry-go-round at a cost of $1,000.

It was stated by Councilman Alexander that petitions have been presented to council asking the city to build a municipal pool. He said that were this done it would result in his opinion in a large expenditure.

He believes, he stated, the acquisition of the Glenn pool was a better move.

The rates will be lower in the future, it was stated by the commission.

Murray Defense Will Be Started

Trial Of Accused In Clintonville Bank Robbery Is Under Way

WITNESSES POINT OUT BANK ROBBERS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—Defense testimony in the trial of James Murray, one of three men accused of committing the $116,000 Peoples National bank robbery at Clintonville, Venango county, last October 14, was expected to begin today.

Federal, state and prison officials kept a close watch on the proceedings as Murray and his two alleged confederates, George Slade and John Dorsch, listened to a series of government witnesses testify and identify each of them as having taken part in the armed holdup.

Slade signed a guilty plea yesterday, and Murray asked that his trial be severed from those of the other two men. Under a court order, the government then began its prosecution of Murray, with Slade and Dorsch sitting by for the present.

Tell of Robbery

Without a flick of an eyelash, the accused men heard C. C. Huffman, cashier, and Elton L. Martin, his assistant, tell of how the bank employees were forced at revolver point to lie on the floor of the bank while Slade and Dorsch seized approximately $5,000 in cash, $110,000 in securities and a $1,200 diamond brooch.

Murray, the driver of the black sedan in which the trio made their escape.

Howard Potter, a rural letter carrier; Earl G. Hale, 14-year-old newsboy, and three other witnesses testified to seeing the men in and near the bank about the time of the robbery.

Murray already has a long criminal career behind him. Only a month ago he was arrested in connection with a bank robbery in Chicago. In 1924 he became notorious for his participation in the $200,000 mail robbery of the Milwaukee railroad at Roundout, Ill.

His life term was commuted by president Herbert Hoover when Murray arranged to return $800,000 of the securities he had stolen.

Slade was brought here from the Atlanta penitentiary, where he is serving a 20-year term for bank stick-ups in eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Dorsch, also serving a term for bank robbery at present, was brought here from Joliet penitentiary by three armed guards.

Garner Family Routed By Smoke

Short Circuit Causes Fire Scare In Garner Apartment At Washington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Vice President John H. Garner, who usually retires around 9 p. m., was up and very much awake a few minutes after last midnight.

Smoke, caused by a short circuit, routed the Garner family from their seventh floor apartment at the Washington hotel.

Sleepy-eyed, the vice president, wearing blue-striped pajamas, escorted his wife, who wore a blue kimono, and Mr. and Mrs. Tully Garner, his son and daughter-in-law, past a group of guests to an unoccupied apartment in another wing of the hotel.

"I have never known Mr. Garner to be frightened at anything," Mrs. Garner told a reporter who had asked "if the vice president was scared."

"It's the most unpleasant way he's ever been up at this hour," she added.

Rotarians Visit Butler Last Night

Club "Pays Off" Attendance Contest Promise; Rosenberg Speaks

Rotarians of New Castle and Rotarians of Butler sang their favorite songs of Rotary and listened to a New Castle club member speak on "Rotary" when the two clubs dined as one in Hotel Nixon at Butler last night.

The local clubmen motored via Slippery Rock to meet with Butler because they promised to if their club lost in an inter-club attendance competition. Butler won the contest by a small margin and found New Castle "on hand" to pay off last night. Forty-five attended from here.

The program was prepared by the New Castle club.

Dr. C. C. Green, New Castle president, and O. J. Binford, Butler president, shared the presiding honors.

Principal speaker was Ross D. Rosenberg, active in the local club's affairs. His theme was Rotary's work.

Leading the songs was James W. Moorehead, executive director of the Lawrence County Public Assistance board and the regular song leader for the New Castle club who was chairman for the trip. Moorehead's pianist was "Bunny" Rosenbloom.

DeLace Cole and John O. Huston, rendered a humorous ditty which highly amused the audience.

In the golf competition which preceded the evening dinner, Butler's Rotarians defeated the local players 31 to 11.

Silence On Reports Bergdoll To Sail

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 23—Reports from Germany that Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the draft dodger, plans to sail for the United States May 31, were met with silence today by his attorney Harry Weinberger.

Although he declined to comment on that report, Weinberger said he would make an "important" announcement tomorrow when he appears before Senate military affairs committee in Washington in opposition to a house approved bill that would bar Bergdoll forever from America.

Correct, this sentence: "My own figure is perfect," said she, "but I think these modern bathing suits are disgraceful."

How to Fly the Flag

"FLAG DAY" will be celebrated on June 14th in more than 1,500 cities throughout the United States by Elks lodges. Joining them in these and in many other cities, will be large numbers of religious, civic and patriotic organizations and citizens. The Elks are the only national patriotic organization which makes the observance of "Flag Day" mandatory on its subordinate branches.

In connection with this occasion, and with other days throughout the year when the flag is flown, such as "Decoration Day" and "Independence Day," the simple instructions, illustrated above, are given for the use of householders, members of local committees and others charged with flying the flag during local celebrations.

Incidentally, the Army and the Navy both fly the flag in the rain, but use special storm flags. To fly the ordinary type of flag is considered disrespectful.

In flying the flag, but one rule, generally speaking, obtains: whenever and wherever it is flown, it should be flown in a manner indicating respect for the flag.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food.

It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted, nutritious cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

HORSEPOWER

..... And It's Off To Work We Go!

50,000 horsepower to fry an egg! 50,000 horsepower to do your washing, play your radio, light your home, cook your meals, protect your food. Or, do any of a hundred penny-priced electrical chores.

That 50,000 horsepower is what the new plant can turn out. You don't need all of it. But you and 47,000 other customers do. For home, store and factory.

Whether you want little or much—all the resources of this Company are at your service. The smallest home in the farthest corner—or the little farm at the end of the lane... each gets the same full measure of service as the largest, the same quality of electricity, and the same low rates.

Plan to see the new power plant. See that 50,000 horsepower harnessed for you. See boilers burning powdered coal—300 tons a day. It will be ready soon—and it is off to work we go!

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

DR. DAFOE TELLS HOW CHILDREN CAN GET SUN'S FULLEST BENEFIT

Yesterday we discussed the fact that a baby born in the spring or summer can derive the Vitamin D it needs from the sun's rays. Mothers, however, should be careful when putting the child out in the sun. To derive fullest benefit, the child must be right out in the sunlight to get his supply of the vitamin. It won't do just to let him lie on a glass-enclosed sleeping porch, for ordinary glass will rob the sun of its ultra-violet rays, the very things the child needs.

Put the youngster right out in the sun. At first he must be watched very carefully; one spot after another of his body should be exposed to the sun for a few moments. As he gets used to the sun, the periods of exposure can be lengthened. He should be able to stand the direct rays of the sun on all his body except his eyes for a period of several minutes.

For the quintuplets, we opened the windows of their nursery when they moved into it and allowed each child to lie directly in the sun's rays. We started easily, only exposing them for a few moments, for if they had gotten sunburn it would only have added to the other troubles we were having then. We let them lie there for increasing intervals until they stayed in the sun for 15 minutes to half an hour. We moved them about from time to time so that all parts of the body would be exposed.

When the baby can't be left in the direct rays of the sun any longer it is well to remember that if he is lying uncovered under the blue sky, but sheltered from the direct rays of the sun, he is getting some benefit.

fit. Some of the vitamin will find its way to his system even though the sun isn't directly on him. I want to point out that this way of getting the vitamin isn't sufficient, but it goes along nicely as a companion to the other method.

Winter or summer, it is a wise mother who keeps her child out of doors just as much as she can. But she mustn't expect that her child will get much Vitamin D from September until May. The quintuplets are in the open just as much as we can arrange, and at night they sleep with the windows wide open. We regulate the windows so there isn't any drafts on them, but even if the weather is 20 below, those windows are opened.

Every winter I have visitors who look at the thermometer as they come in my office and say, "But, doctor, you don't let the quintuplets play outdoors this weather, do you?" I like to take such people out and show them those youngsters playing in the snow. They are warmly dressed, and they are so active that it isn't much effort for them to keep warm. And all the time they are getting some benefit from the wintry sun and the fresh air.

In fact, rain is about the only thing that keeps them indoors unless they are really sick.

Ready To Lay Sidewalks Here

Property Owners May Pay Cash Or Give Promissory Notes

City Engineer G. R. Throop today stated that attaches of the engineer's office now are ready to take applications for sidewalk construction as a city-WPA project. The cost will be 16 cents per square foot. For a five foot wide sidewalk this will make the cost, 80 cents per running foot. Considerable sidewalk was laid last summer.

Two methods of payment will be in effect, first, cash in advance; second, by the giving of a 90 days promissory note bearing six per cent interest.

Upon request the engineer's office attaches will measure up a property owner's sidewalk and deliver to the owner the necessary papers showing the amount to be done and the cost.

If the owner desires to pay cash he may pay the amount required to the city treasurer and take the receipt to the city engineer's office where the job will be placed on the construction list.

If the owner desires to pay by note, he should go to the engineer's office, taking with him the application papers. He will be required to sign the promissory note and the work will be placed for construction.

Science Finally Muzzles Women

Telephone Invention Automatically Ends Conversation At End Of Time Limit

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 23.—What a wonderful thing science!

At last, science has found a way to silence a woman, at least on a telephone.

This miraculous device is the product of the Pennsylvania Telephone corporation. It is so arranged that when her ladyship has talked for five minutes, a buzzer automatically rings—warning her that she has just one minute to finish her conversation about that new hat she just bought. Then, if she doesn't wind up her talk, the gadget automatically disconnects her. Of course she can get the same party back on the line, but she'll either have to insert another nickel, in the case of coin-box phones, or dial again.

Everybody likes it according to the corporation.

Legislature Pushes On In Hope Of Week-End Adjournment

Relief Measures Before Assembly

Van Allsburg Bill In Line For Final Action At Today's Session

COMPENSATION BILL ALSO BEFORE SENATE

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 23.—Stamped by Democratic senators as a "slave bill," a measure forcing persons on relief "to work or starve," was rushed through the Senate over bitter opposition and forwarded today to the House for almost certain approval.

Democrats hammered away at the bill, which is sponsored by Senator Henry J. Pierson (R) Lancaster, for more than two hours, only to see it approved, 26-21, when one of their own members, Senator Joseph P. Dando, Schuylkill, voted with the Republicans to give the measure the constitutional majority it otherwise lacked.

Bill Pushed Through

With the legislature slated to adjourn this week, the bill was pushed through the Senate in record time, being introduced Friday and receiving first and second readings, all in one day, with final passage Monday.

The Pierson bill is believed to embody the convictions of Speaker of the House Ellwood J. Turner, and with the overwhelming Republican majority there it is apparently slated for House approval. The bill would compel county relief boards to apportion out relief labor to public and private enterprises. Relief recipients who refused to work would be refused relief. Persons receiving special assistance, such as blind pensions, would be exempted.

Both public and private industries using relief labor would pay the "prevailing rate" for their labor. When the job terminated, the relief recipient would again be eligible for assistance.

Action in Senate

Moving steadily toward a week-end final adjournment, the Senate, with most of the important legislation now in its hands following House approval, took the following action on other major measures:

1. Put the Van Allsburg relief bill in line for final enactment today. The House-approved bill as amended eliminates the civil service ripper for county relief employees, but gives the governor unlimited authority to dismiss relief employees upon the recommendation of the county boards and public assistance secretary.

The amended bill further takes the 67 county executive directors out of civil service, requires that they take an oral examination given by the employment board and then permits the county board to make its selection from those passing. Aliens who file a declaration of intention by January 1, 1940, would be permitted relief, provided they and citizens also have resided two years in the state, one year without being a public charge. The House provision putting the blind on a "needy" basis remains unchanged.

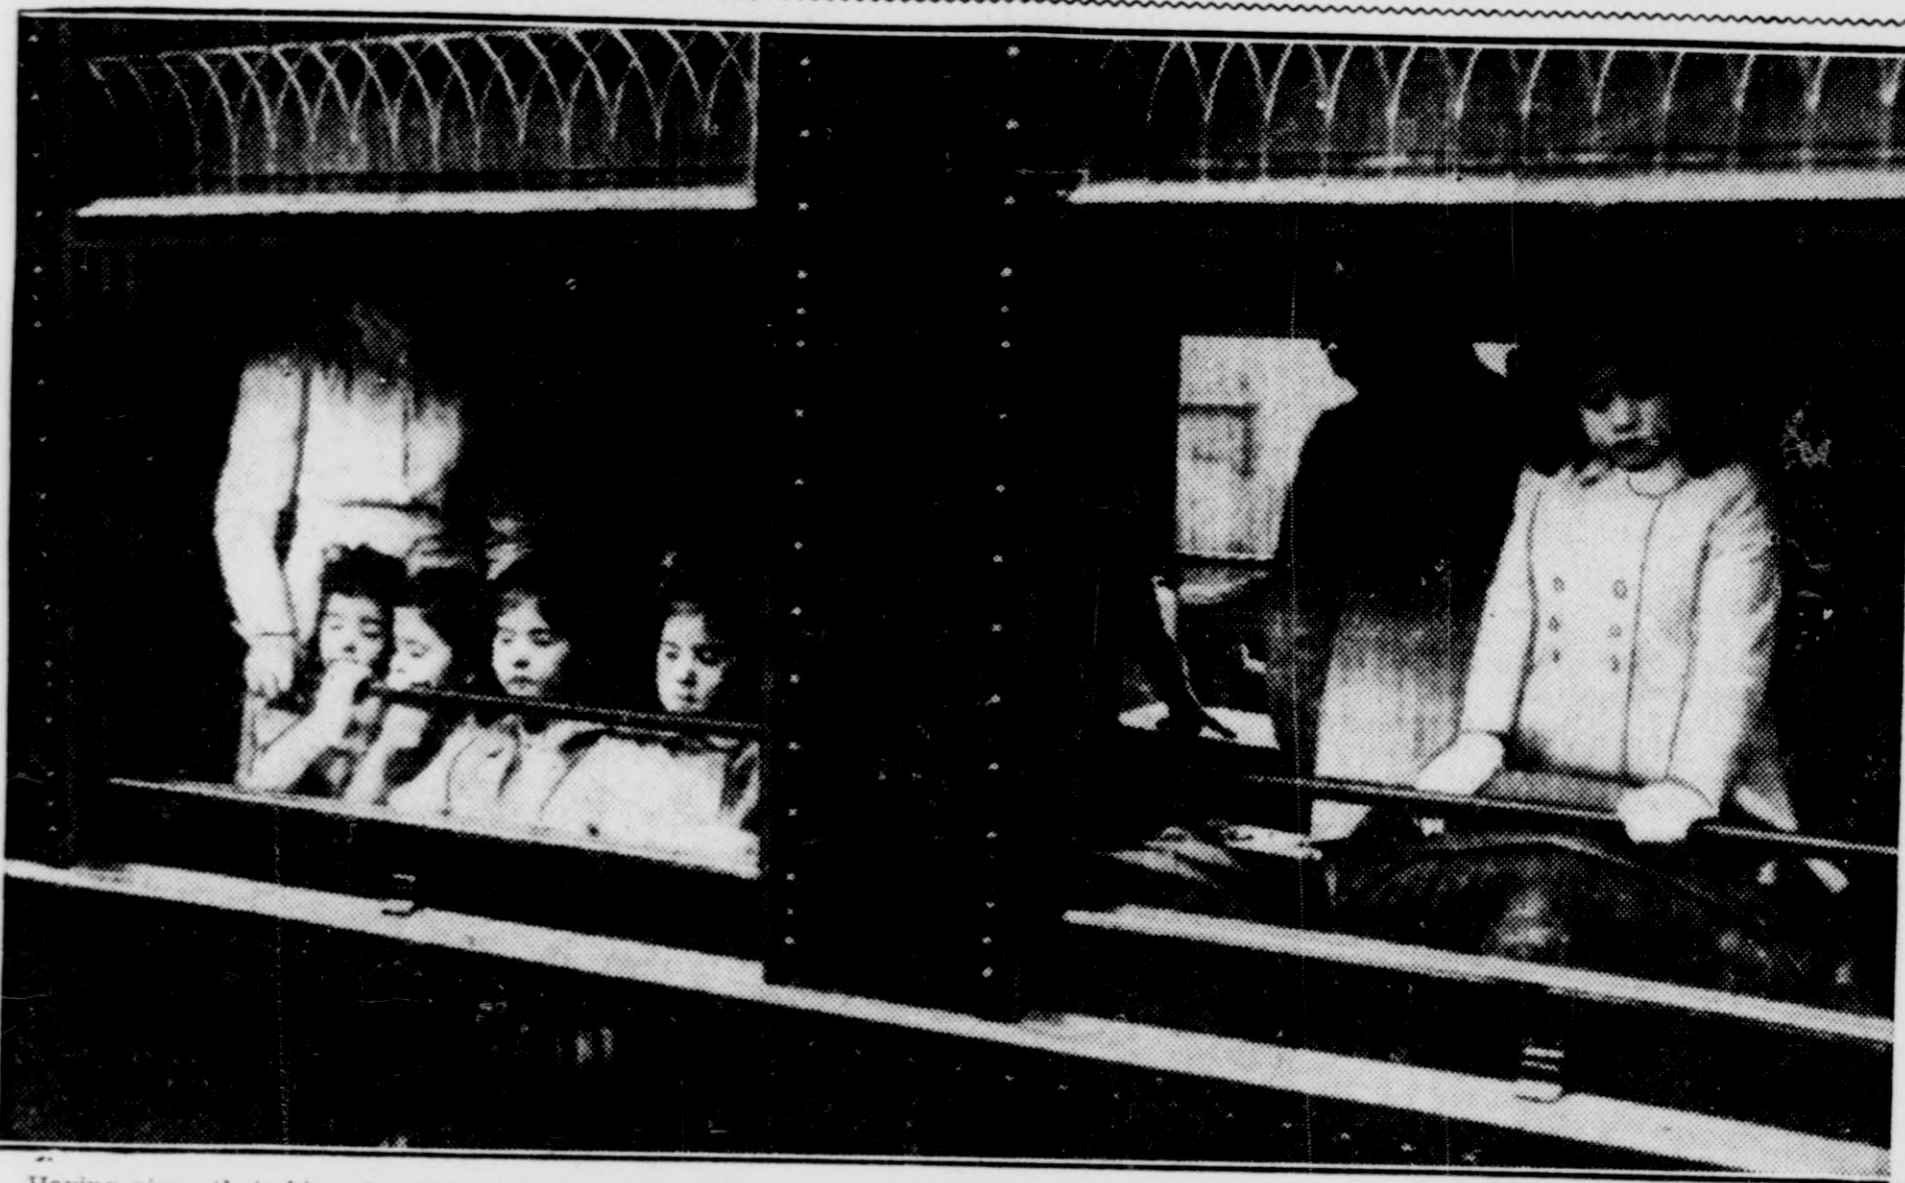

2. Three House-approved liquor bills passed final passage. Two, on third reading today, increase club license fees 50 per cent and all other license fees 20 per cent. A third House-approved bill was to receive second reading today and then be recommitted for an amendment eliminating the House provision calling for 50 district licensing boards.

3. The House-approved Wilson workmen's compensation bills were up for final passage today. Senator Weldon B. Heyburn (R) Delaware, chairman of the labor and industry committee, said they would be amended on the floor to make the rate of payment conform as nearly as possible with the Romig decision.

4. The Kane anthracite bill was to receive second reading today and then be recommitted. It was understood that at least one Democratic senator from the coal regions had been assured the bill would not be passed without a public hearing. Another Democratic senator, Joseph P. Dando, Schuylkill, said he was opposed to the bill. As amended in committee the House-approved bill now sets up the governor as a sort of "czar" during the 60-day period before the act goes into effect "in order to keep the coal operators in line." It was rumored the bill would be "pickled."

Say one thing for lecherous little Goebels. He doesn't keep this people wondering who starts all the lying propaganda.

GOES TO COUNTY JAIL

A 30-day sentence to county jail was meted out today to Walter Jenkins, Croton avenue, by Alderman Wallace J. Knights Of Pythias Open Meeting Monday

Robert Blum Lodge 466, of the Knights of Pythias held an "open" meeting Monday evening in their hall for associates and friends. Herman Hess impressed guests with his prepared discussion of the history of the organization.

Music was presented by the Premier Quartet, composed of Richard Hill, William Gregor, John Waggoner and Earl Eckles, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. Hill. Several solo selections were also given by Mr. Hill.

Informal pastimes, including contests and cards, claimed attention and tasty refreshments were served at the close of the play, forming the climax to an entertaining evening.

Donald Dinsmore, C. C. Lamson and Robert Maxwell formed the committee in charge.

ACCIDENT VICTIM IS LITTLE IMPROVED

Little improvement has been shown in the condition of Mrs. Rose Lewis, of Sampson street, who was injured early Sunday morning when the automobile in which she was a passenger went off the road between West Pittsburgh and Wampum and struck a culvert.

Her condition was still serious today and she had a poor night, it was stated at the hospital.

State motor police who investigated the accident, stated today that a charge of reckless driving is to be placed against the driver of the car, Harry Eugene Cramer, of 614 Raymond street, before Justice of the Peace N. A. Craig, of North Beaver township. Cramer and other woman occupant of the wrecked machine were uninjured.

Plan To Raise Fund For New Castle Triplets

Six months ago the stork left not one bundle, but three, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson, of South New Castle, Boro. Two girls and a boy, all healthy and strong were left to the delight of the parents and today the triplets are well and sturdy.

Through no fault of his own, Mr. Johnson's work is slack at the present time. He is getting little time in and what he is making is nearly all taken for the care of the triplets. Formulas, oils, powders, clothing and equipment for three new babies takes a heap of money and the result is that today, the triplets are being fairly well cared for but at the sacrifice of the rest of the family.

Next Sunday the triplets will be christened in St. Philip and James church. They need a lot of things, so does the rest of the family. It has been suggested that a lot of New Castle people would be glad to contribute a mite towards a fund to provide the triplets with proper clothes for the christening, as well as provide some equipment for their care in the home.

About $200 would put the family in good shape and guarantee the triplets some things they need. A mite from many would make this amount with no difficulty whatever. Contributions may be left at The News Office in Mercer street. Raising this $200 should be but a matter of a few days. Why not bring or send your contribution in now?

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Summer motor tourists are warned by the Keystone Automobile club to pay particular attention to the maximum speeds in states outside of Pennsylvania, whose limit is 50 miles per hour.

Change Clothing On Street Corner

Oil City Misses Put On Strip Tease Act On One Of Busiest Corners

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., May 23.—Two girls picked the corner of one of the busiest streets in this city to put on a "Sally Rand-Gypsy Rose Lee strip tease" act.

The two girls, Ann Barrett and Nancy Ann Peters, changed complete attire—dresses, shoes, stockings and even undies—on a main street intersection. They then exchanged clothes and proceeded to dress again as if what they had just done was nothing out of the ordinary.

How large of an audience they had, was not officially learned.

P. S. Both Ann and Nancy are three-year-olds and it was just a childish whim.

BEING RESTLESS SLEEPER ALMOST COSTS MAN'S LIFE

URGES INSTITUTE OF IRISH FOLKLORE FOR NEW MEXICO

(International News Service)
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Establishment in New Mexico of an Institute of Irish Folklore was recommended recently by Seamus O'Diurlaigh, Irish folklorist.

Lecturing at the University of New Mexico, O'Diurlaigh said he knew of no place so filled with folklore as New Mexico.

"I have never been in a locality so much like Ireland in its human outlook as New Mexico," he said.

"The Irish and Spanish are very close. You know legend says the Irish came originally from Spain.

And I can assure you that if the Irish were to come to New Mexico they would peel off their coats and start learning Spanish."

WPA HISTORICAL SURVEY REVEALS RARE INFORMATION

(International News Service)
BOSTON, May 23.—Little known historical facts of long standing, have recently been brought to light by the Historical Records Survey of the WPA.

Among the facts are: That if a person, back in 1651, didn't own 200 pounds he was forbidden to wear gold or silver ornaments, silk bands or scarfs. Magistrates or other public officers, their wives and children, military officers, and soldiers then in service were exempt from the ruling.

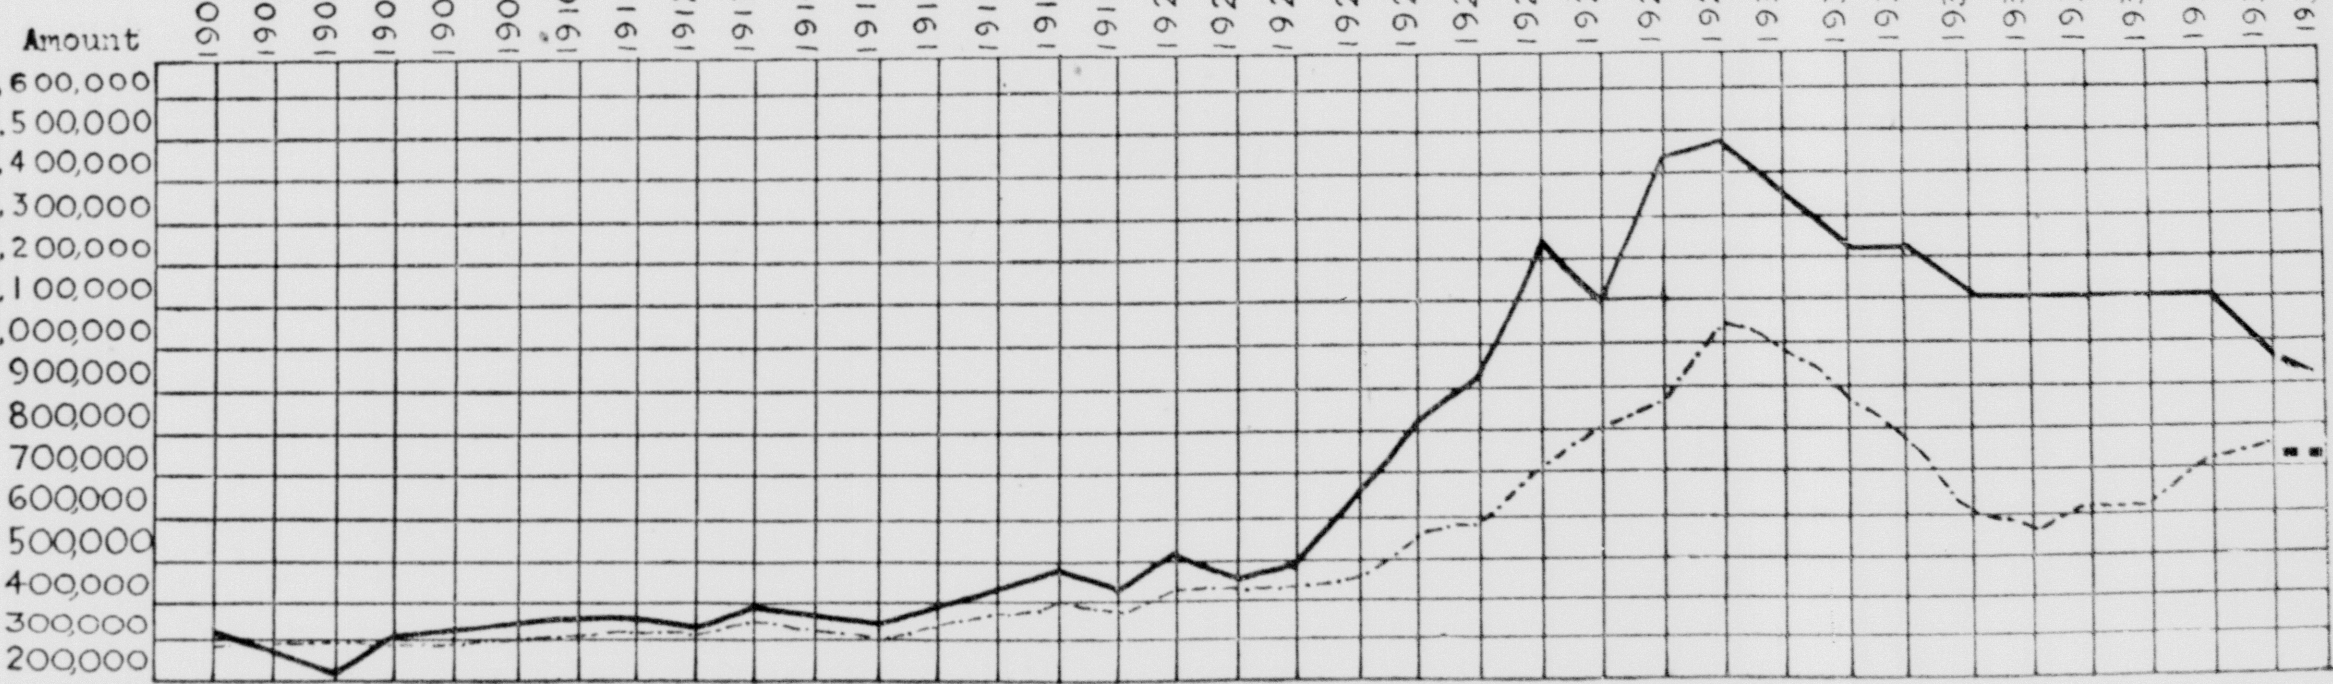

That property in the heart of Boston, 122 years ago, was rented for 10 tons of Russian Old Sable Iron, per year, and the lease was drawn up to run 1000 years! However, the Iron was so hard to get, that an agreement was made whereby payment was to be made in gold bullion and the tenure of the lease was changed to 22 years.

Last Season's Champions To Meet Ellwood

Lawrence County Loop Teams Clash At 5:45 P. M. Wednesday

WAMPUM PLAYS NEW GALILEE

Lawrence County Baseball players will swing into action against 5:45 p. m. Wednesday with two games on tap. Hillville having drawn the bye. The calendar calls for Bessemer, 1938 champions to play at Ellwood City and Wampum to travel to New Galilee where they clash with the Hot Tops. Last season Wampum was one of the strongest aggregations in the circuit.

In Friday's game N. Calderaro, left fielder for Hillville, came through with a triple plate smash and Anderson, catcher for the 1938 champions, not only made a triple but also a double.

Three Peps On Team Incidentally it might be said that on the Hillville aggregation are three Peps, J. being a shortstop, T. covering second and Joe taking his turn on the mound.

In the Ellwood City-Wampum game which opened the loop season in Ellwood City, V. Fransus, shortstop for Ellwood City unloaded his bat with a triple while Douthitt, right fielder and J. Scala, catcher for Wampum, each got two hits.

Up to yesterday's games the standing showed the New Galilee, or New Castle Hot Tops, leading the loop with a clean slate of three wins while Bessemer had two games won and one lost. Ellwood City won one and lost one.

Columbus Club Defeats Elders

Seventh Ward Team Hangs Up Third City League Win 7 To 3

Behind the steady and effective hurling of Joe Forcione, the Columbus club of Mahoningtown rang up the third victory of the year in the City league last night at Lockley field, by handing the Elders A. C. a 7 to 3 defeat. A four-run rally in the first inning spelled doom for the first Siders.

Eddie Lamm and Dolly Hartman divided the pitching burden for the Elders and gave up seven hits. Forcione had the longest hit in the game, a triple.

WEST PITTSBURG AT CEDAR STREET

The City Baseball league will have five fast games on the bill for tonight. The feature game will be the Slovak Club appearing against the Hot Union Civics team at the Scotland Lane Field. Manager Russell will pitch Anderson his ace against Smith for the Civics. The game will start at 5:30 o'clock.

Down on the Ryantown field, Manager Joe Samuels will try to get his first league win, when his youngsters meet the Elder A. C. and will pitch Morris, while Manager Layton will pitch either Tommy Strausbaugh or Dolly Hartman.

Manager Maslyk and his Oaklanders looked the West Side Tigers, their natural rivals. This should be a humdinger of a battle.

Manager Maslyk will have "Sheenie" Soho ready to work the game, and Manager McCormick will probably have Updegraff or Thomas ready to pitch.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Major league jottings—It looks like Jerome "Dizzy" Dean is back to stay. In Sunday's game against the Bees, the loquacious Cub twirler limited himself to just 74 pitches in nine innings. After it was all over, Dean said, "Maybe it'll be warm my next time out. Then maybe I'll pitch a good game." He hadn't changed.

Recently, the Red Sox flew to Chicago for their series with the Pale Hoos. Now the Beantowners are trying to interest Yawkey in making all trips via airplane. . . . Our Pirates are using baseball sense these days. Over the week-end, the Bucs tried two squeeze plays. Both worked.

Sunday was old-timers day. "Lefty" Grove, 39, a Detroit jinx, came in with a pitching beam. Teddy Lyons, same age as Grove according to the record books, went 10 innings to subdue Washington. . . .

Local sport shots—To Tony Ambrose: The adopted theory is that a starting pitcher must complete five innings to be credited with a victory. If, at the end of 4½ innings, the game is called off due to weather conditions and the home team is ahead, the home club twirler gets credit for a victory. . . . Although the football season is still months away, workmen are putting the gridiron at Taggart stadium in shape. . . . Henry Marshall is proving one of the hitting sensations of the Middle-Atlantic loop. He owns a .447 average, the third best in the circuit. . . . John "Bozo" Soho, a talented sandlotter, has forsaken the national pastime, and devotes his spare time to golf. . . .

Leroy Anderson Outpitches Andy Sugent To Give Slovaks League Win

Leroy Anderson, the Slovak mound ace, was touched for eight hits last night by the St. Josephs Ecclesiastical club, but with men on base he was harder to hit than a humming-bird with a bow and arrow.

Anderson pitched a fine four-hitter for the Saints, but unfortunate errors back of him spelled his defeat. Chill was the feature batter with a homer and triple.

Giants Defeat Pirates 9 To 2

Hal Schumacher Handcuffs Pirates; Reds Upset Brooklyn Dodgers

YANKS-INDIANS ARE WASHED OUT

By PAT ROBINSON International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 23.—If you see a little round man strutting around today wearing a big cigar and one of these "I told you so" grins, that will be Jimmy Dykes, boss of the White Sox.

It was Jimmy, you know, who emphatically predicted that Zeké Bonura would boot away more runs than he would ever drive in for the Giants, a prediction at which Bill Terry scoffed.

Of course, Jimmy—an old hand with a needle—may have been kidding. Terry a little because the first baseman with the two left feet hasn't been quite as awful as Jimmy would have you believe.

Benches Bonura Nevertheless, he must have been pretty bad for Terry to have been ed him as he did yesterday despite a 304 batting average. And while he was busy chalking up his outburst, Terry also benched the outspoken Harry Danning and his 293 average in favor of Ken O'Dea.

Terry may have hit on the right combination at last. In any event, the Giants rose up on their hind legs, pounded Tobin, Brown and Clemensen for a dozen hits and walloped the Pirates, 9 to 2.

The other infielders seemed to have more confidence with Johnny McCarthy at first base and Hal Schumacher, nicely handled by O'Dea, turned in a six-hit performance.

Reds Trim Dodgers

Drastic action was called for if the Giants are to get anywhere for the Cardinals and Reds show no signs of weakening. The Reds turned back the Dodgers, 6-3, for their seventh straight victory.

Cardinals won their fourth straight by topping the Phillies, 2-1.

Strangely enough, the Reds, boasting the best pitching staff in the National league, share with the Giants the distinction of not having scored a shut-out. The Cardinals are the only club in the league to escape a shut-out and have turned in four white-wash jobs of their own.

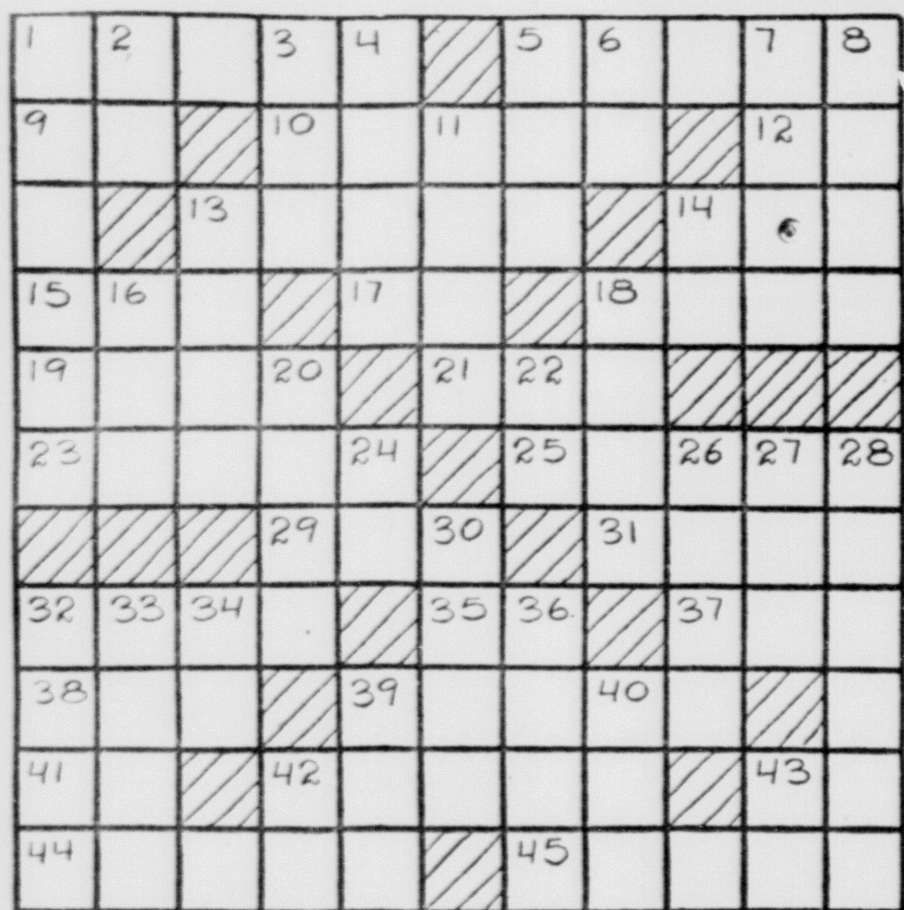

Mort Cooper had a three-hit shut-out in hand going into the ninth but when he passed Scott and Herlihy Martin doubled with none out, Curt Davis was shut out in the league and stayed off the Philly rally.

Two Washed Out

The Bees, with Pete and Erickson operating against Lee, trimmed the Cubs, 5-3.

There was only one game played to a decision in the American league and in that one the Browns, with Kennedy pitching and Cliff and Mazzera hitting homers, checked the Athletics'

Stock Market Is Irregular

Market Today Sluggish And Irregular Following Steady Advance Over Week-End

By LESLIE GOULD

Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 23.—The stock market was a sluggish and irregular affair today, following its steady advance through the four preceding sessions.
Wheat futures continued their spectacular rise on all North American grain pits. July wheat at Chicago spurted another 1 1/2 cents a bushel to 75 1/2 cents, a new high on the crop. Cotton climbed about 25 cents a bale. Minor commodities, except for hides, also were mostly above previous closing levels.

In the stock market, Case was among the few to show major price change. The stock, which failed to sell in yesterday's rally, spurted close to 2 points in early dealings today. Union Pacific was up a point at one time, while Union Carbide lost as much before meeting support.

Fractional declines were incurred by most of the steels, coppers and electrical equipments. Allied Chemical, General Motors, International Harvester and U. S. Rubber were among those to register fractional gains.

The bond market was steady in spiritless trading.

College Students Hear Of Culture

President Galbreath Of Westminster Speaks At Closing Chapel Service

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, May 23.—"Culture is knowing the right thing to do at the right time," President R. F. Galbreath told Westminster college seniors yesterday, in one of the closing chapels of the year. "It is something to be learned from living and not from books." "Emily Post is an excellent source on knowing what to do in certain situations, but you can't go through life with a book of etiquette under your arm," Dr. Galbreath continued. "If you are not cultured by the time you leave college, then you have little hope of ever attaining it." "Too many students, Dr. Galbreath concluded, are always postponing the learning of cultural habits, with the result that they never acquire it."

Youths Face Murder Trial

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 23.—James Enos and Stanley Maruzewski, Uniontown youths, charged with the slaying of a Scottsdale gasoline station attendant last March 15 during a holdup, went on trial here Monday on charges of murder.

A third Uniontown youth indicted with them, Richard Burd, won a severance and will be tried later.

The state charges Enos and Maruzewski, accompanied by Burd, held up Bernard Davis and fled with a small amount of cash after one of the three shot Davis. He died several days later.

Burd was arrested in Uniontown and Maruzewski and Enos later were taken in Richmond, Va., where police had detained them on a motor law violation.
